If this shall be done, there will be no necessity for an increase of taxes. Any increase of the tax burden would be fatal to the existence of the dominant party. Besides it would be an outrage upon the people, when there are so many ways of cutting down expenses without injury to any public interest.

convince the Jews?

Prof. Schlamovitz. I hope so, I shall speak to them in the Hebrew, the German, the Russian and the English tongues, and it will indeed be strange if all prove so blind that none should see the truth. The proofs that the "Annointed" has already come and redeemed his people are, to say intiad, overpowering. In the book of Breshith (Genesis), chapter 49, we read that when the patriarch, Jacob, was on ins death-bed, he called his twelve sons, and having blessed them, he told them what would happen in the last days; but when he came to his fourth son, Judah, he said: "The scepter shall not pass away from Judah, not a ruler from his thigh, till Shioh comes, and unto him shall be gathered the nations." But the kingdom and he scepter passed away from
